

Trade Center For District

Village of Byron is active along numerous line.

HAS BIG GENERAL STORE

Elevator, Potato Warehouses and Cream Shipping Also Conducted.

Byron, a small village about ten miles south of Fond du Lac on the Soo line, is a prominent trading point for the community surrounding it. It has two potato warehouses, an elevator, creamery station, general store, etc.

The general store is owned by G. W. Tice, who carries a good stock of dry goods, groceries, shoes, crockery and other lines suitable to the general merchandise business. He also deals extensively in coal, wood, and salt. Mr. Tice owns one of the village warehouses and handles a large amount of potatoes annually. He came here from St. Lawrence, Washington county, several years ago. He was postmaster at that place for a number of years and is now postmaster at Byron.

The Manitowoc Malting company owns the elevator in this village and their business interests are looked after by G. L. Ties. Considerable grain is bought and shipped from here every year by this company. The majority of the shipments are made direct to the company's headquarters at Manitowoc.

Cream Shipping Station

Kee and Chapin of Chicago are the proprietors of the cream shipping station in the village and it is managed by R. A. Yates who came here about a year ago from Fond du Lac where he was associated with Galloway-West company. After being pasteurized the cream is shipped to Chicago.

The other potato warehouse in the village is owned by Henry Grantman who conducts a large general store in Lomira. Mr. Grantman was formerly in business at Eden and is well known throughout this section of the county.

John Kennedy is the proprietor of the blacksmith shop in the village. General repairing in all lines of blacksmithing and horseshoeing are given special attention. He has been here for about three years

H. Wittman is the village barber. The station agent is M. A. Chapman who also looks after the business of the Western Express company at this place.

Byron has a good district school. Miss Maud Doyle is the teacher in charge.

St. John's Catholic church is located about two miles north of the village in a well settled farming community and has a large congregation. The pastor in charge is Rev. Fr. S. Zohlen.
